

Patric Eymann

Member of the Executive Board
Head of Enforcement division

Patric Eymann was born in 1969 and gained a law degree from the University of Bern in 1998. He joined the Swiss Federal Banking Commission as a researcher after graduating and was promoted to Head of the Market Supervision group in 2003. Following the creation of FINMA, he was entrusted with additional duties in this function from 2009 onwards. These included overseeing all investigations in the area of market supervision, conducting proceedings, developing regulation and, from 2010, leading disclosure and takeover activities. In 2011, Patric Eymann took charge of the Investigations section. This section within the Enforcement division is responsible for conducting investigations against licensed and unlicensed institutions, performing market supervision and coordinating national and international cooperation with FINMA. Patric Eymann became Head of the Enforcement division and a member of the Executive Board in August 2016.
